Bumble Blast started life as a humble beehive in the Radiant Mountains, where for ages the bees made the sweetest, most magical honey in all of Skylands. When Kaos heard about this "super honey," he wanted it all for himself and soon launched an attack on the peaceful bees. But when his minions arrived to plunder everything the bees had created, they were met by Bumble Blast. He alone had been home to the bees and considered himself their protector. Using the power of the magic honey, Bumble Blast valiantly battled the evil minions, who felt his powerful sting that day. Afterward, Bumble Blast roamed Skylands as a protector of nature, where he soon joined with the Skylanders.

The honey or the bees? That's the question for Bumble Blast's enemies since they're about to be hit by one or the other, and often both. Bumble Blast is terrific in single target fights, and improves in battles involving larger number of enemies with just a few upgrades.

The Bee Keeper Path improves Bumble Blast's damage output and gives him an option to knock back enemies with a charge up Beezooka shot. The Honey Tree Path is more about control and survival. Bumble Blast gains additional armor, and enemies covered by honey suffer from reduced movement.
